

AVERAGE CIRCULATION FOR SEPTEMBER 243,279 PER DAY

THE WEATHER.
For Boston and vicinity: Cloudy, probably rain to-night; Tuesday, fair, fresh south to southwest wind increasing. High water: 11:46 a.m.; 12 p.m.

8 PAGES

VOL. 1—No. 200

MONDAY

AND NEW YORK JOURNAL

BOSTON, MONDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1904.

Copyright, 1904, by The New England Newspaper Publishing Company.

MONDAY

PRICE ONE CENT.

HEARST'S

BOSTON AMERICAN

NIGHT EDITION

8 PAGES

NEW YORKS AND BOSTONS ARE LINED UP FOR FINE BATTLE FOR PENNIANT

From a photograph taken by a BOSTON AMERICAN camera man.

BOSTON'S GREAT CHAMPIONS ON THE BENCH, HOPING THEIR BATSMEN WILL "LINE IT OUT."

Reading from left to right, the players are: Selfish, Freeman, Criger, Collins, Doran, Stahl, Young, Unglaus, Gibb on.

MORE THEN A SCORE KILLED IN A WRECK

EAST BOUND WORLD'S FAIR PASSENGERS VICTIMS AT WARRENSBURG, MO.

WARRENSBURG, Mo., Oct. 10.—Between twenty and thirty passengers were instantly killed on a collision between an east-bound World's Fair train and freight train running west on the Missouri Pacific railroad.

The train met at full speed, head on. Medical aid was dispatched from this city, Sedalia and other points immediately upon receipt of the news of the accident. The injured were returned to this place as soon as they were extricated from the wreck.

The bodies of the dead are also being brought here as rapidly as they can be recovered.

FLEECE BOSTON MAN IN PARIS

PARIS, Oct. 24.—Edward Sumner, of Boston, has appeared to the Paris police to claim his reward of $10,000 from a man who was robbed by an English count.

Sumner met three Englishmen at the hotel and during a conversation one of them proposed a trick which necessitated the making of the count of all four in a hat. The others, who were French, then took the count and Sumner dropped to the floor.

The trick consisted of the mysterious disappearance of the Englishman who held the hat. He has not reappeared.

The Boston attorney the twenty-five years back about the record of the count.

BIG PARADE FOR TEMPERANCE

LYNN, Oct. 10.—Three thousand members of the Essex County Abstinence Society are to take this afternoon for the annual parade in commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the prohibition of the sale of liquor in Massachusetts.

The parade began to form in Broad street. Mayor Kenna's party was on the bat. He has not reappeared.

The Boston attorney the twenty-five years back about the record of the count.

AS RESULT OF SCANDAL, F. DE PEYSTER HALL, NOTED NEW YORK CLUBMAN, IS A SUICIDE

Man Who Sued Calumet President for Slander Shoots Himself.

By Boston American Special Writer.
NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—Frank De Peyster Hall, a wealthy member of an old Knickerbocker family, who last week brought suits for slander against Alfred H. Bond, a former Bostonian, president of the Calumet Club, and two members of the New York Yacht Club, committed suicide today in his home at No. 126 Lexington avenue by shooting himself in the right temple.

Found Dead in His Chamber as His Case Was About to Be Tried in Court.

He told three stories, and a reviewer of his business relations revealed. President Bond replied that the charges against Hall were true and could be substantiated. The investigation had been made at the Calumet Club, when Hall lived there, by descriptive name of whom was then placed on a list and members of whom comprised the investigation of the club. At the time of the investigation the club was a regular board, to Hall in the office and in the investigation of the club.

Why should I sign it? Hall demanded. You know why, and it would be a pleasure to discuss it, replied the detective.

He was in his study when he shot himself. He had a long talk with several of his friends last evening and then he shot himself. He had a long talk with several of his friends last evening and then he shot himself. He had a long talk with several of his friends last evening and then he shot himself.

Found Dead in His Chamber as His Case Was About to Be Tried in Court.

last Thursday when the newspaper published long but apparently restrained account of the case. The account was given by the New York Yacht Club, and George A. Varnum, secretary of the New York Yacht Club, alleged that Hall had maliciously slandered him.

For thirty years he has been a clubman, and while his social engagements have been many, he never married, left three children in the care of his mother, and he has various stories that only in life a famous society. He was a member of the New York Yacht Club, and he was a member of the New York Yacht Club.

Graduating from Trinity College, he was until the last two years one of the leading members of the Trinity Alumni.

HOTELS ABLAZE, INVALIDS FLEE

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Oct. 10.—Fire destroyed the North House this morning, and only by most heroic work of the fire department was the Barker House saved. The guests in both hotels were thrown into a wild panic and many were carried from the building. No one, so far as known, was injured. Two smaller buildings adjoining the Barker House also were destroyed.

A number of the guests in the hotels were invalids. So rapid was the spread of the flames that they were forced to flee to the roof and night air with little covering on them. For that reason, it is feared that several will succumb to the shock and exposure.

Physicians have hurried many of the invalids to private homes, and for the moment there is no attention to being afforded them.

SOCIETY GIRL DROWNED

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 10.—Miss Beale Wilson, of Chatham, N. Y., niece of the late William L. Wilson, who was once postmaster general and afterward president of Washington, died this morning. She was drowned while bathing at Virginia Beach.

Miss Wilson was a young woman, and she was a member of the Norfolk Yacht Club. She was a member of the Norfolk Yacht Club.

Champions, in Fine Spirits, Were Cheered by Crowd of Boston Rooters Who Journeyed to Gotham to See the Games—Weather Threatening, but Ardor of Champs is Undaunted.

BY A. H. C. MITCHELL.
Boston American Staff Correspondent with the Team.

AMERICAN LEAGUE BALL PARK, New York, Oct. 10.—Although the weather was very unfavorable overcast, and pouring, by appearances it was apt to rain, hammer and tommy men moment the Boston and the New Yorks lined up in battle array for the final game of the season this afternoon, before a crowd which thoroughly impressed one as being the largest.

BATTING ORDER.
NEW YORK.
Batter, 1, L. E. Brown, 2, J. L. Dwyer, 3, J. L. Dwyer, 4, J. L. Dwyer, 5, J. L. Dwyer, 6, J. L. Dwyer, 7, J. L. Dwyer, 8, J. L. Dwyer, 9, J. L. Dwyer.

to denounce New York demonstrations. The followers of the Highlanders would look up at the overcast sky every little while and shiver with dread because of the possibility that their diamond idols would forfeit the championship, because of the untimely interposition on the part of Jupiter Pluvius.

However, the clouds didn't come from the health of the "Collegiate City." They knew that the club bank had not passed the season's record in the East. Neither did they mind the penetrating wind, which it was supposed to blow from the North. It was the support given the team by the Boston fans that was the real thing. They were the Boston fans that were the real thing.

ROCKERS KIDDED NEW YORKERS

Boston fans looked on with a mixture of surprise and amusement at the New Yorkers who were so easily deceived by the Bostonians. The Bostonians were so easily deceived by the New Yorkers who were so easily deceived by the Bostonians.

NEW YORKERS GLOOMY

Moreover, the weather conditions were not in their favor. The New Yorkers were so easily deceived by the Bostonians who were so easily deceived by the New Yorkers.

"Let Us Work Together, and We Shall Win Together," Says Mayor Collins

By the Hon. PATRICK A. COLLINS, Mayor of Boston.

Written Expressly for the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

AS an old observer—and some time campaigner—I can best answer the inquiry of the AMERICAN by saying that the conditions and prospects for Democratic success are, to my vision, far more favorable than in 1876 or in 1884. I was a delegate from this State in 1876, and felt that Tilden was going to be elected. Why? The political "atmospheric pressure." It was in the air. Tilden was elected. I made no figures; I simply knew. In 1884 I was an onlooker—for various reasons—but I felt, and almost knew, that Cleveland would be elected. He was.

Eighteen hundred and ninety-two cannot be compared with either of the other years, because from the start we were bound to win. It was a "tidal wave" like 1874, "and lots of other things"—nothing human or political could have stopped us.

Since the Democrats in New York have put their house in order the prospects for Democratic success are even better than they appeared to me in 1876 or in 1884. At this time in the years 1876 and 1884 the cordial feeling for the candidate that now exists was absent. It took some time to pull the party up to the best fighting mood.

During the last part of this summer there was a feeling of irritation among the Democrats of the Union (except, of course, in Massachusetts) about New York, but all that has disappeared since the outcome of the New York State Convention. The day's work there cleared up the front and back yard and left a good house, with a breeze of Democracy blowing through it.

The South is solid, sane and safe; and with New York sure, we can cover the fighting ground—and it is a small area—with confident hope. We not only can win, but we shall win, if the right work is put in, and I feel it will be.

MAYOR PATRICK A. COLLINS.

REPRINTED FROM YESTERDAY'S BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

We Are Proud to Print This from Mayor Collins

I wish heartily to congratulate the American on the value of the work it has been doing and as one lone American citizen I thank its management for that we have all got together let us work together and we shall win together.

Facsimile of part of Mayor Collins' statement to the BOSTON SUNDAY AMERICAN.

RUSSIANS DRIVE JAPS BACK TO LIAO-YANG

KUROPATSKIN, NOW AGGRESSOR, PREPARES TO STRIKE TERRIFIC BLOW.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A dispatch to St. Petersburg from Mukden to-day says the Japanese are falling back on Liao-Yang while the Russians intend to attack.

Earlier dispatches say that General Kuropatkin after losing a stirring address to his troops, in which he announced that the time had at last come for a forward movement, has taken the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

BIG CONVENTION OF STATE ONE FALL RIVER FEELER OF LABOR ON

BRITISH DELEGATE MAKES PLEA FOR THE FALL RIVER STRIKERS AT LYNN.

Special to the Boston American.

LYNN, Oct. 10.—When State President James B. Crozier, of the American Federation of Labor, opened the convention at Lanesboro Hall to-day he was greeted by one of the largest and most important labor delegations ever assembled in this city.

On the platform, with President Crozier were Vice Presidents Joseph G. Jackson, Charles H. Winslow, Francis H. Clark, Robert M. Connor and Henry Burleigh, and Secretary and Treasurer Dennis D. Davis.

Plea for Fall River Strikers. Peter Curran, of the British Trades' Council, was the speaker before the house, and he made an impassioned plea in behalf of the Fall River strikers.

After the opening of the convention, Frederick A. Lyons, vice-president of the Linn Central Labor Union, delivered an address of welcome to the visiting delegates. Mr. Lyons said in part:

"To me has been given the honor of welcoming you to this city, and I am proud to have you here. I am proud to have you here, and I am proud to have you here."

"You come to a city whose workers have suffered from the greatest calamity of the progress of our movement, namely, the laboring; to a city that affords most favorable soil for the best efforts of organized labor."

"Unity the Only Keynote." "I sincerely hope that from your deliberations will come lessons and inspirations from which will develop a united movement in our country."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"United workers, banded together, will win. The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

"The only key that can unlock the treasures of success, and our harvest, is unity. It is the right of the laboring man to have the right of the laboring man."

JAMES B. CROZIER.

President, State Federation of Labor, now holding a four-day convention in Lynn.

Special attention to this, the greatest of modern labor.

The effect of the employers' conference on the "open shop" in this State will also be discussed.

Francis H. Clark, of the Brockton Shop Workers' Union, is a candidate for the presidency in the event of the President's death.

Declining a third term, which it is understood he will do, Mr. Crozier is expected to leave the State for a tour of the American Federation of Labor, that opens in San Francisco November 1.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

CASTORIA For Infants and Children. The Kind You Have Always Bought.

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Hart.

United Cigar Stores Retail System means Absolute Protection against Substitution.

Secret of Beauty Of Skin, Scalp, Hair, and Nails.

Always Remember the Full Name Laxative Bromo Quinine.

Cures a Cold in One Day, Grip in 2 Days.

E. F. Howe on every box, 25c.

ONE FALL RIVER WILL TRY TO START WORK

STRIKERS HAVE BEEN APPROACHED TO GO BACK TO WORK, BUT ARE HOLDING OUT.

Special to the Boston American.

FALL RIVER, Oct. 10.—Strike leaders here are busy because it has been calculated from the town that the strikers are weakening and that they propose to return to work at the cut-down rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

As a matter of fact, the leaders say, the feeling against going back to work under the reduced wage scale is growing stronger every day. At the regular meeting of the strikers to-day the matter was discussed and the sentiment of the leaders was heartily endorsed.

Fifteen women and 35 men will start to-morrow after the meeting of the Fall River Central Labor Union for the cause. The women will endeavor to start on Wednesday morning under the reduction. The strikers are struggling among the old help to-day trying to get the mills to reduce the rate of wages in the near future.

NOTIFICATION OF DOUGLAS FULL OPEN CAMPAIGN

Democrats to Start Ball Rolling Thursday—Republicans Will Start Work To-night.

The Democratic State campaign opens Thursday at Brockton, when William L. Douglas will be formally notified of his nomination for governor. Members of the Notification committee and several hundred enthusiastic Democrats will go to Brockton on a special train.

The ceremony of notification will take place in the Brockton Theatre. The speakers of the occasion will be made by Mayor Collins, Congressman Thayer, Congressman Sullivan, Ex-Mayor Matthews and the candidate for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, Hon. William L. Douglas and Hon. John C. Crosby.

The campaign which will follow the notification will be the first of the kind in the history of the Commonwealth, and it is expected that it will be a most successful one. The campaign will be carried on by the Democrats and the Republicans will start work to-night.

The party managers intend to keep the campaign right up to the eve of election. The party managers intend to keep the campaign right up to the eve of election. The party managers intend to keep the campaign right up to the eve of election.

WORK TO POLL FULL DEMOCRATIC VOTE. An organization which will carry the name of the World's Greatest Democracy (club) has been organized by East Boston voters, with the purpose of assisting in getting out the vote on election day and seeing along the work of the party.

The club, which has a large membership, has these officers: President, John A. Quinn; Vice-President, William Sullivan; Secretary, William Sullivan; Treasurer, William Sullivan; and the club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

WORK TO POLL FULL DEMOCRATIC VOTE

AN ORGANIZATION WHICH WILL CARRY THE NAME OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST DEMOCRACY (CLUB) HAS BEEN ORGANIZED BY EAST BOSTON VOTERS, WITH THE PURPOSE OF ASSISTING IN GETTING OUT THE VOTE ON ELECTION DAY AND SEEING ALONG THE WORK OF THE PARTY.

The club, which has a large membership, has these officers: President, John A. Quinn; Vice-President, William Sullivan; Secretary, William Sullivan; Treasurer, William Sullivan; and the club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one. The club is expected to be a most successful one.

RUSSIANS DRIVE JAPS BACK TO LIAO-YANG

KUROPATSKIN, NOW AGGRESSOR, PREPARES TO STRIKE TERRIFIC BLOW.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A dispatch to St. Petersburg from Mukden to-day says the Japanese are falling back on Liao-Yang while the Russians intend to attack.

Earlier dispatches say that General Kuropatkin after losing a stirring address to his troops, in which he announced that the time had at last come for a forward movement, has taken the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

This advance, many believe, was ordered by the Czar himself, who has determined on a desperate investment for the relief of Port Arthur and a Russian victory at any cost. "Thrusting his head into the lion's jaw," war critics say is required to it.

After being wildly cheered by his troops, who cheered on the offensive against the victorious Japanese army under Field Marshal Oyama, and broken through their lines.

RUSSIANS DRIVE JAPS BACK TO LIAO-YANG

Ed. 211d

Wheeler

Delicox

TRAIN YOUR MIND TO HAPPY THINKING AND YOU WILL FIND GREAT JOY IN LIFE

Copyright, 1984, by American Journal Examiner. If you never allowed your child to that does each day. delicox.com walk, but best if in a terrapinister and

Work, worried and discontent? Are you dreading the dawn, and do you fret and rebel at the fate which has been imposed upon you, and do you weep and pray for better things to come? If this is your habit of thought you are placing an impossible barrier between yourself and the joy of life.

It was wrong, you could not expect it to walk.

It is precisely so with the mind. I must practice the habit of pleasant and hopeful thoughts before I can enjoy any blessing or event to the full.

Begin today to give up all of a kindergarten training in happy thinking. No matter how miserable and burdened your life may be, look for some one bright

You are training your mind to depend on that for a few moments until you can feel a thrill of joy in your heart. Look at other lives and realize the fact

This is not a theory. It is a scientific

I have known a woman to dwell with orbid persistency upon her really unhappy life, and to shut away any suggestion that it could change for the better (with a dogged pessimism. And when, after years, conditions did change (through the efforts of others), and she was given her surroundings and found affectionate care and attention. She found herself unhappy and dissatisfied with her life from morning until night, year after year, she was despondent, discontented and complaining. She had developed the pessimistic portion of her brain and atrophied the optimistic portion by disuse.

If you should tie your right arm to your back and seek to do any work, you would become enfeebled and in a measure paralyzed. When, some day, you understand to put this hand to work you would find it incapable of obeying your commands.

I am, Sir, your obedient servant,
 John Jay

Advice to the LOVELORN

By Beatrice Fairfax

Y^{OU} are not entitled in any way to be photographed; but, of course, the girl is the best one to judge whether or no you should have one. I admire her for hesitating about giving her picture to one whom she has known such a short time. Girls these days are not so easily won over so readily. Only her dearest friends should be shown such a mark of favor. If she

When I was seventeen my people came to Boston, and I was really very happy to be there and live with my mother and my father. I was there and I was with my married sister, but he never asked me to marry him, and I didn't even give me a hint that he wanted to marry me. I thought, as long as he wished me to stay, that we should stay together and I didn't understand that I could not stay so. We quarreled and I came down here. I came back to visit my Walter Watkins, some rather marked changes in material used in the construction of the quantity of material used and the little cups which were made by hand. The latter are an example of the trend of the Winter in the Glass House.

The half-sitting stool, which may be seen in the photograph, is made of wood with cast of silver shape, is one of the nearest to the original design of the Winter in the Glass House. Simple in line and in construction, but yet with a great amount of style in it, it may

That is over six months ago, and I have not heard a thing from him since.

I love him still. I have tried, but cannot forget him. Will you please tell me which did wrong, he or I, and who should be the first to take a step toward a reconciliation?

HEARTBROKEN

6224

But I should say that the young man's ingenuity lay at the root of it. He loved her, but he loves his money more. As for never having told you that he loved you, did he not show that he loved you by asking you to marry him? Naturally, a woman likes to be told she is loved, but some men have queer ways of showing their love. Had I been in your place I and did not have asked for a ring. You would have waited until he offered you one. At the same time he treated you very badly. I am sure that you asked me most rudely, and I cannot say I am sure you for acting as you did. I cannot advise you to ask his forgiveness, for I really think he was chiefly to blame. Then, again, I doubt if you would be happy with a man who thought so much of his money. You are a very good girl, and of stinkiness would grow on him and he would grow older, and would come on me all through life. Don't be unhappy, little girl. Believe me, there are many good days in store for you and for your mother.

CHAR MISS FAIRFAX:
I am a young girl and am keeping my mother and my mother's friends as my friends. I am not engaged. I have an friend of mine is very ill. Would it be better for me to stay at home or to go to the hospital?

be in three-quarter or short hip length, and is a good model for wearing for many distressed girls. The skirt (2225) is one of the new tapered models in round length. The plants are attached by buttons.

to me to send him a few flowers and a note. I thought it was impossible for me to see him. M. C.
T would be very nice of you to send him some flowers, a book or anything of his kind, but if I were you I would not tell for any other reason than to inquire of him. Perhaps writing him is better he will be glad to hear from me, chapman by some other person.

HEAR MISS FAIRFAX..... X
I made the acquaintance of a young girl about two months ago, and since that time I have thought a great deal of her.
I suppose that one night when I went to bed, I asked her for her photograph, as I thought I was entitled to one, seeing that she thought so much of her.
In reply to my request she said that she didn't like to refuse me one, and also that she didn't know whether it was proper for

X..... X
No..... X
Size..... X
Name..... X
Address..... X
X..... X

try to give me one, seeing that she knew
